Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4,8,10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Aust, et al.-5454827.

Aust discloses a surgical instrument having a shaft 16,50; a tool 40, a handle 70, a 1st movable member-bendable section 42, and 2nd movable member 74 attaching the handle to the shaft. Movement of the control handle in one direction moves the tool in an opposite direction. The actuation means disclosed is a series of 4 control wires 81-84 which connect the movable member and control handle to the tool. The bendable section 42 both bends and pivots.

Claim 22 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Williamson, et al.-5405344.

Williamson discloses a shaft 94, a tool 60, a control handle, a proximal motion member 230, a distal motion member 184, actuation means 274 and wheel 236.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a):

Claims 19,23,26 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aust-'827 in view of Wilk-5273026 and/or Wales-5702408.

Aust discloses the invention as claimed with the exception of the eletromechanical actuator and the rotatable lock. Wilk discloses both an electromechanical actuator and a rotatable lock 54 for an articulating instrument. Wales, et al. also discloses a lock for an articulating instrument.

It would have been obvious to have provided Aust with the motor actuator in order to alleviate the need for the surgeon to do all of the minute manipulation of the end effector. To have provided Aust with a locking mechanism would have been obvious to allow the surgeon to keep the end effector in the desired orientation without the possibility of inadvertent movement during use.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 21,24,25,27 and 29-31 are allowed.

Claims 5-7,9,13-18 and 20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
